Consider Lewis & Feldman, LLC for Your Next Mediation

Danny and Jon have been practicing law for 33 and 28 years respectively. They have not only practiced in the personal injury arena handling cases involving all types of motor vehicles (car, tractor trailer, motorcycle, and cycling), but they have also handled premises liability cases, workers compensation claims, medical malpractice claims, product liability claims, construction defect claims, lemon law cases, wrongful death and more. A majority of their cases have been on the Plaintiff side, but Danny handled defense claims for several years as well.

Jon Lewis

Areas of specialty: premises liability cases, workers compensation claims, medical malpractice claims, product liability claims, construction defect claims, motor vehicle collisions, lemon law cases, dog bite claims, wrongful death and more.

After participating in over 100 mediations as a practicing attorney for the past 28 years, Jon Lewis knows what it takes for two parties to come to a successful resolution.

“My father practiced law for fifty years, and he taught me building relationships and rapport with people is what helps get cases resolved.” Jon has been a registered mediator since 2017 and is pleased to bring his mediation skills to help more people resolve their disputes.

As experienced attorneys, Jon and Danny have considerable practice communicating with clients and assessing case values. They are knowledgeable when it comes to the economics of litigation from both the Plaintiff and Defense points of view. They have tried cases to jury verdicts and handled appellate matters as well, so they know what is involved in litigating the dispute and how that compares to resolving the case in mediation.

Areas of specialty: premises liability cases, cycling, medical malpractice claims, product liability claims, construction defect claims, motor vehicle collisions, dog bite claims, wrongful death and more.

Danny Feldman has practiced law for more than 33 years. For the past 14 years, he has maintained a personal injury practice and has specialized in representing injured cyclists throughout the State. “Two of my friends were seriously injured while cycling after being hit by a drunk driver,” he explains. “For the first time in my career, I was able to combine my love of cycling with my legal profession.”

In 2017, Danny became a registered mediator. He is available to mediate all types of personal injury cases, among others.
